The Norvegica Collection of Colin Freebrey

Colin Freebrey was born in London in 1939. He was educated at Durham University from about 1957-1961. He got an honours degree in French, with German subsidiary. His dissertation for this degree was based on the work of the French landscape painter, Claude Lorrain.

In 1977 he moved to Norway with his fiancée Elisabeth. This was when he started building up a serious collection of books on antics. After a BA degree in art history at the University of Oslo, he started work on his masters degree. The subject of this was the life and work in London of a Norwegian goldsmith. He then got a job in industry as a data processing manager. He retired and moved to Sweden with his wife in 2007.

Up until the late 90's Colin Freebrey had been collecting books within the fields of the history of art, archaeology and antics. A Norwegian rare book dealer suggested that he should consider Norvegica as a new field to explore for his book collection, suggesting that this would go well with his interest in antics and British culture. These books were written by his compatriot Englishmen or other foreigners and contained many of their reactions to the Norwegian way of life etc before 1900.

He started off acquiring the two editions of Schiötz bibliographies "Itineraria Norvegica. Foreigners' Travels in Norway until 1900. A bibliography." (1970/1986).

The first Norvegica books he bought he found in Oslo antiquarian bookshops, and later in London. To start with all the books were of voyages before 1900 (in other words completely in line with Schiøtz's scope). Later he changed this to books covering journeys up to and including The First World War.

He decided that his collection would not include any of the large and expensive plate books about Norway, nor any books on polar exploration or the whaling industry. But perhaps influenced by the many editions of La Martinière's voyages, he soon decided to include books about voyages to Spitsbergen, Novaya Zembla and other similar areas north of Norway.

In organizing his new collection Freebrey based his catalogue on Schiøtz' organization of his bibliography. In addition all his descriptions include details on the books' condition, a decision which Sagen & Delås | Auctions have applauded and included in the work with the cataloguing of the collection.

Being there when many rare book dealers started moving their business to the internet, Freebrey has had an advantage on the classical collectors of Norvegica in regards to aquiring books and information on rarity of titles produced outside of Norway. Those who will buy books at the auction will get an insight into this extensive work, by reading the register notes / descriptions inserted into each book and pamphlet in the collection.

Further Notes on the Pursuit of Salar. Wilmington, Delaware, 1972. Privately printed (by The Anthoensen Press, Portland, Maine), in a limited (unnumbered) edition of either 50 or 100 copies (sources vary). Frontispiece, 46pp. 31 photographic illustrations on 16 double-sided plate pages. 8vo. First edition. Published in the series "The Milne angling collection", which contains books and periodicals on the history and practice of fly fishing. The collection, which began as the library of Douglas and Helena Milne, continues to grow with purchases made from an endowment established by Mrs. Milne". Black cloth spine over pink paper-covered boards, the front cover with gilt title, the spine with gilt title and author. Protected by a transparent mylar sleeve. The end papers are a map of the Vosso River in Western Norway extending over the four pages. Inscribed on the verso of the free front end paper: "To Andrew Oliver from his friend 'Salar' 10/6/72." (i.e. Alfred Bissell) and below "To Andy Oliver from a new friend Lee Reese 12/15/73." Interior very tight and very clean. A very fine copy. The second in the series of books on salmon fishing written by sportsman Alfred Bissell in a very limited edition. Much salmon fishing in Norway, at "Oddsbu", a fishing lodge on the picturesque Vosso, near Bolstadøyri, whose principal revenue comes from cutting hay and renting river rights to sportsmen, and where the party fished on five beats and caught fish weighing up to 39 pounds. There was also an abortive trip to Siberia. Very rare.

122) n.a. (Bullock, William) (fl. 1795-1828)

Lapland sketches or delineations of the costume, habits, and peculiarities of Jens Holm, and his wife Karine Christian: with accurate representations of the deer, sledges, huts &c. as exhibited at Bullock's Museum. London, J. Harris and Son, 1822. 36pp. Illustrated with 12 hand-coloured engravings. 12mo. First edition. Bound in blue printed paper wrappers. In a very old custom-made dust wrapper of rag paper. Fine. *Brief descriptions of Lapland scenes and customs, intended for the youthful reader. William Bullock was a nineteenth century traveller, naturalist and antiquarian. He began as a jeweller and goldsmith in Sheffield, and around 1795 he founded a Museum of Natural Curiosities there. This moved to Liverpool in 1801. In 1808 he published a descriptive catalogue of the works of art, armoury, objects of natural history, and other curiosities in the collection. In 1812, Bullock moved to London and the collection was placed in the newly built Egyptian Temple (later Egyptian Hall), Piccadilly. Together with material from other collections, this popular attraction was known as the London Museum until 1819 when the items were disposed of by auction. In 1822, Bullock went to Mexico and brought back many artefacts and specimens which formed a new exhibition in the Egyptian Hall, entitled Modern Mexico. A second visit to Mexico, and to the USA, took place in 1827. Bullock's publications include A concise and easy method of preserving subjects of natural history (1817), and Sketch of a journey through the western states of North America (1827). 146) (Clairmonte, Mary Chavelita (née Dunne), later Bright) (1859-1945)

Keynotes, by George Egerton (pseudonym). London, Elkin Mathews and John Lane, and Boston, Roberts Brothers, 1893. (8), 184pp, (1)-(16), advertisements dated September 1893. Pictorial title page printed in red and black by Aubrey Beardsley, otherwise no illustrations. 8vo. First edition. Mottled pale green linen binding, the front cover with black title author's pseudonym, publishers and date (1893), beside a pictorial scen (perhaps also designed by Beardsley), the back board with publisher's logo and the date 1893, the spine with gilt title, author and publisher. The spine heavily stained, the gilding very rubbed, the front board with rubbed lettering and pictorial lines. Front and bottom edges uncut. Pencilled ownership inscription dated 'Xmas 1893' on free front end paper. Interior very tight and clean. The first volume of the 'Keynotes Series', described by Sadleir as "the most elegant fiction series of the nineteenth century." The first edition of Mary Chavelita Dunne Bright's controversial, feminist collection of short stories. Keynotes was so successful (and notorious) on both sides of the Atlantic that Egerton was soon being interviewed in the leading magazines of the day, and was famously lampooned in Punch. This and subsequent works had the same thematic preoccupation: a dismissal of female purity as a male construct that denies women the right to expect and experience sexual freedom and fulfilment. *The book is dedicted in print to Knut Hamsun. Glimpses of Scandinavia and Russia. Boston, Thomas Groom & Company, Publishers, India Building, 82 State Street, 1887. Privately printed in 100 unnumbered copies. 94pp. No illustrations. Square 12mo. First edition, Blue bevelled cloth covers, the front board with the title in gilt, and, in black, the author's name and an illustration of a Lapp family with reindeer in front of their tent, the spine with gilt author and title. Boards a little soiled, the corners, edges and spine somewhat rubbed, and the spine darkened. Top edges gilt. Green and gilt floral end papers. Inscribed and signed by the author on the half-title page: "Liddy, with the compliments of Chas F. Cutting, Christmas 1887". Title page printed in red and black. Interior tight and clean. This book is based on journal entries recorded on a quick trip in the summer of 1887. The author states that the entries were recorded at night after much sightseeing and apologises for the fragmentary character of the descriptions. He indicates that he "published these entries at the encouragement of friends because of the almost total absence of guidebooks of these countries.... that I might perhaps awaken a curiosity to visit these wondrous regions....". *Stavanger - Bergen - Molde and the Romsdal fjord area - Trondhjem - North Cape - Hammerfest - Tromsø - Trondhjem (1887). no title. n.p., 1882. A four-page disbound leaflet labelled Private describing the shipwreck of the Severn, R.Y.S. on Marsteinsbåen, near Marstein Island and lighthouse, off the coast of West Norway just south of Bergen. The leaflet describes the trip from when the Severn left St. Helens on the Isle of Wight on Saturday 8th July, 1882, until the safe return of all on board to Hull on 17th July, 1882. The Earl of Ducie was accompanied by his brother-in-law (William) Brodie, (22nd Laird) of Brodie. Ducie notes the assistance given him by the Bergen Vice-Consul Herman D. Janson, and by Albert Brassey in the Czarina, R.Y.S., who arrived at the scene on 13th. July. Note in pencil on the first page Given me by the Earl of Ducie, G.A. Printed on laid paper. Sewing holes at page edges. 8vo. Re-bound in stiff card covers. Very clean. Henry Moreton inherited the Earl of Ducie title in 1853 on the death of his father. The Ducie's main estate is at Tourtworth Court, Gloucestershire, England, where designs for lodges and a prospect tower were made for the 3rd Earl by Sir John Soane in 1896. The 3rd Earl was "Captain" of the Yeoman of the Guard (Queen Victoria's bodyguard regiment) from 28th June 1859 to 10th July 1866. He served on several Parliamentary Commissions. He spoke Norwegian, and translated into English J.A. Friis' Laila (Laila; or Sketches from Finmarken) in 1883 (published in London by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge), and Alexander L. Kielland's Skipper Worse in 1885 (published in London by S. Low, Marston, Searle and Rivington). He is buried at St. Leonard's church, Tortworth, Gloucestershire. Not in Schiötz.

PRIVATE.

In company with my brother-in-law, Brodie
I left St. Helens, Isle of Wight, in the Severn, R a.m., on Saturday, July 8th.

We passed Dover Pier at 5.30 p.m., and afte quick passage over the North Sea came up to U about 10.30 p.m., on Monday, July 10th. We some fifty miles to the southward of Marsten I at the entrance of the Kors Fjord, which o other Fjords and Sounds leads finally to Berge going on well—the weather was fine, the sea
the summer night only a brief period of twilig expected to reach Bergen by breakfast time—day filling up coal and engaging a pilot—an fident that Wednesday morning would see us

215) Forbes, James D(avid) (1809-68)

Norway and its Glaciers visited in 1851: followed by Journals of Excursions in the High Alps of Dauphine, Berne, and Savoy. Edinburgh, Adam and Charles Black, 1853. xxiv, 349pp. With the half-title page (which is often missing). 10 full-page chromolithographic views, and one uncoloured full-page wood engraving opposite page 301. 22 wood engravings. 2 maps (1 folded). 4to. First edition. Contemporary half calf binding marbled boards and marbled edges. Later spine with gilt title on black ground, five raised ribs, decorated with gilt ornaments. Boards slightly rubbed on lower and front edges. Very good +. Forbes's account of his pioneering expedition to Norway contains early lithographs of scenes among the glaciers and snowfields. It also contains very nearly the sum of what was then known, in geological terms, about the country. The work is in two halves, dealing first with Norway and then by way of comparison with the Alps. The second half contains the first account of Forbes' ascent of the Jungfrau with Agassiz (the first British ascent). The chapters on the Alps later appeared in the same author's Travels through the Alps. Norway and its Glaciers was rightly regarded by Cecil Slingsby, the 'father' of Norwegian mountaineering, as a classic. James David Forbes (1809-1868) was a Scottish physicist whose experiments on the transmission of heat led him to the study of geological conductivity of heat and then to glaciers. He was among the first to recognise that a glacier is an imperfect liquid which flows irregularly. Abbey offers an unusually subjective comment on the fine mountainous views: "The chromolithographs are of excellent quality and compare not unfavourably with hand-coloured work." *Christiania - Dovre - Trondhjem - trip along the coast with "Prinds Gustav" to Bodø, Tromsø, Lyngen, Alta and back to Trondhjem - towns in Møre - Bergen - Hardanger - Voss - Sogn - Fillefjeld - Christiania (1851). Rev. Hale was elected Chaplain to the United States Senate in 1903, which post he filled until shortly before his death. Susan Hale was not only a writer, but an artist, "professional" traveller and letter writer as well. Her Men and Manners of the Eighteenth Century, Story of Spain and Life and Letters of Thomas Gold Appleton are all highly regarded. But it is the series of Family Flight books that she wrote in collaboration with her more famous brother for which she is most acutely remembered by readers. *Christiania - Gudbrandsdal - Romsdal - Trondhjem - coastal trip to Tromsø, North Cape and back to Christiansand. 280) Heywood, Abel the Younger (b. 1840) (of Abel Heywood & Son, Manchester, publishers and printers)

Papers read on Various Occasions, Manchester, n.d. (not before 1910). 8vo. Unique, a privately assembled miscellany of the author's own published articles, some off-prints, some extracted from the relevant journals. Half dark green calf binding over dark green buckram boards, the spine divided into six compartments by five raised bands, the second compartment with the gilt title between gilt rulings on a red morocco panel, and the fourth compartment similarly with gilt author, the ribs with gilt chaining, the extremities with gilt double ruling. Spine and corners rubbed, the spine faded to brown. Decorative orange and reds pebbled end papers. Some scattered foxing. A pencilled table of contents (incorrect) in Heywood's hand on the free front end paper. The correct contents, with a description of the condition of each, is as follows:
1) Four Days in Iceland. A paper read before the Manchester Literary Society. Reprinted from the Manchester Quarterly, No. VII, July 1883, pp. 265-290. With original torn green front wrapper.
2) A mountain walk in Norway. With Illustrations. Reprinted from the Manchester Quarterly, April 1891, pp.1-21. 2 photographic plates. With original green front wrapper.
3) Scandinavian Stories about Huldre. Reprinted from the Manchester Quarterly, April 1902, pp. 1-27. With original beige front wrapper.
4) Notes on Japan and the Japanese. Reprinted from the Manchester Quarterly, April 1904, pp. 1-20. With original beige front wrapper.
5) Sveningdael. Reprinted from the Manchester Quarterly, July 1912, pp. 1-20. With original beige front wrapper.
6) Trout-fishing in Norway. Extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings. Papers by members of the Manchester Anglers' Association. (First series). Manchester, Abel Heywood & Son, and London, Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 1880 (Schiötz 24), pp. 6-36. Handwritten date 1890 noted in pencil on the first page obviously does not refer to the publication date.
7) Fish out of Water, by Crabstick. Extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings. (First series), pp. 98-101.
8) A Night at the 'Lochinvar'. This is Chapter 3 (of 4) of a play entitled The Raid to Kircudbright, by The Raiders, extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings, (First series), pp. 196-204.
9) One Way to the Tweed. Extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings, (Second series), 1882 (Schiötz 24), pp. 17-29.
10) A Fishing Adventure in Japan, by Eberu Ewodu [not listed in the handwritten table of contents], extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings, (Second series), , pp. 159-166 (incorrectly numbered 165).
11) The Condition of Vision of Fishes, by the Hon. Sec. Extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings, (Second series), pp. 178-194.
12) Fishes Ee-Seet, by Arthur Hibbert. Extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings, (Second series), pp. 195-201.
13) Norway Re-visited. Extracted from a copy of Anglers' evenings. Papers by members of the Manchester Anglers' Association. (Third series). Manchester, Abel Heywood & Son, and London, Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 1894 (Schiötz 24), pp. 34-53.
As well as the Contents list, Heywood has made a sprinkling of notes throughout, giving a date in one instance and saying an illustrator used a photo of his (and other examples). On the last page, a shaky (old man's hand) comment is difficult to read but appears to state that these were his last words (apparently signed AH), and another hand [?] has added Glory departed. Accompanied by: Five loose photographs of varying sizes up to c.4 x 4 inches, of Norwegian scenes, found in the pages of Sveningdael but perhaps belonging with A Mountain Walk in Norway where Heywood has apparently listed people in a photograph (the largest) including "Self".

The Cruise of the Neptune. Staunton, Virginia, The McClure Company, 1922. 119pp. 18 photographic illustrations on 8 double-sided plates. 12mo. First edition. Original brown cardboard staple-bound wrappers (soft cover), the front cover with gilt author, title and a map of the Arctic area within double ruling. Covers lightly knocked and the extremities and gilding a little rubbed. End papers and wraps coming loose from the staples, but text block otherwise tight. Old, faint dampstain to bottom corner of margins, not reaching the text. Interior otherwise clean. *Hoenshel, a United Brethren minister from Dayton, Virginia, wrote several books of rather sentimental religious poetry before embarking on this long-dreamed-of expedition to the furthest navigable waters in the regions around the North Pole. His account of this journey makes a noteworthy book, both for its scarcity and for the sheer improbability of this Virginia preacher floating through the ice pack above Spitzbergen. Rare. 309) Jones, George Matthew (1785(?)-1831), Captain RN Travels in Norway, Sweden, Finland, Russia and Turkey; also on the coasts of the sea of Azof and of the Black Sea: with a review of the trade in those seas, and of the systems adopted to man the fleets of the different powers of Europe, compared with that of England. In two volumes. Vol. I. [ONLY]. London, John Murray, 1827. (1 blank leaf), cloth-mounted folding map, (1 leaf, title page with printer colophon on verso), xvi, 582pp, (1 leaf, corrigenda, with printer colophon on verso), (1 blank leaf). 8vo. First edition. Folding map dated 1827, two folding tables facing page 546. Later full tan calf binding, the spine divided into 6 compartments by 5 raised bands with gilt motif, red morocco gilt author/title and volume labels in compartments 2 and 4 respectively, the remaining compartments with elaborate gilt scrolling motifs and double ruling. Front and back boards decorated with similar gilt scrolling and ruling. Gilt edge decoration. Elaborate gilt dentelles. The leather on the back board is slightly scraped in a couple of places. All edges gilt. Blue silk page marker preserved. Contemporary owner signature (FDP Astley) at top of title page, occasional light foxing on preliminaries, otherwise very tight and clean. A fine copy. [Jones, George Matthew (1785–1831), naval officer and traveller, was the son of John Jones, general superintendent of Landguard Fort, Felixstowe, and his wife, Mary, née Roberts; General Sir John Thomas Jones, first baronet, and Lieutenant-General Sir Harry David Jones were his brothers. On 28 April 1802 he was promoted lieutenant in the navy. He was appointed to the Amphion, in which, in the following spring, Nelson went out to the Mediterranean, and which, on 5 October 1804, assisted in the capture of the Spanish treasure ships off Cape St Mary. In 1817 he commanded the Pandora on the coast of Ireland, and was posted on 7 December 1818. The following years he spent travelling over Europe to examine the maritime resources of the different countries. Already well acquainted with the coasts of Spain and Italy, he visited the ports and arsenals of France and the Netherlands, of the Black Sea, and of the Baltic. In 1827 he published his journals under the title Travels in Norway, Sweden, Finland, Russia, and Turkey (2 vols.). The account, dedicated to Sir William Hoste, by whose advice the travels seem to have been undertaken, is written intelligently, though at excessive length. Such intelligence-gathering work reflected a range of accomplishments not commonly acquired by sea officers. Sadly Hoste died the following year, ending any career hopes Jones may have entertained. After publication his health broke down. Jones suffered 'a paralysis of the limbs' (GM, 562) and at Malta fell down a flight of steep stone steps; he died three days later, in April 1831. 322) n.a. (Kelsall, Charles): Horae Viaticae: the author, Mela Britannicus.

London, privately printed for the author (by Charles Whittingham, Chiswick), 1836. vi, (3 leaves), 412pp. 12mo. First edition, extremely rare ("one of the rarest 19th century travel books of Norway and Sweden", (T. Hannås, quoted in Schiötz sale catalogue, November 1989)). Original green cloth boards, the spine with title in gilt lettering. Front board bubbled, rear board stained, the spine with a 2cm split at the top front joint, much smaller split at the top rear joint, front joint with a cloth only split ca. 6cm up from the bottom, corners slightly bumped. Dedication in ink from the author on the front pastedown (The Lord Heytesbury from the Author Charles Kelsall). Beneath this dedication, a (Phipps) family tree in ink, in Kelsall's hand. Interior tight and clean. Kelsall, friend of Thomas Taylor the Platonist and one of only five mourners at his funeral, wrote a number of interesting philosophical works, including Phantasm of a University (1814), a plan to reform Cambridge University. Horae Viaticae includes some supplementary notes on this plan, along with travel diaries in Russia and Scandinavia and some juvenilia; most amazingly Kelsall then jumps into a novelette based on the election of a British Pope in which he anticipates the reforms of Vatican II with astonishing acuity. "One of Kelsall's most unusual productions an extraordinary and unexpected novelette` Perhaps the only literary parallel to this strange story, in which Kelsall invents his own Pope, Urbano Nono, is Baron Corvo's Hadrian VII` his vision of a 'purifying' Council... anticipated the second Vatican Council--though by one and a half centuries. The astounding originality of Kelsall's observations cannot be over-emphasised...[he] became the modern man as none other of his generation dared." (David Watkin: Thomas Hope and the Neo-classical Idea 1968, and see also Schrader's edition of Dyce's Reminiscences 1972). *Fredrikshald - Kristiania - Lillehammer - Valdres - Ringerike - Drammen - Telemarken - Arendal - Kristiansand (1835). Relation d'un voyage dans la Mer du Nord, aux côtes d'Islande, du Groenland, de Ferro, de Schettland; des Orcades & de Norwége; Fait en 1767 & 1768....Ouvrage enrichi de planches. Amsterdam and Leipzig, Arkstée & Merkus, 1772. vii, (1), 220pp. Eighteen engraved charts and plates (of which fourteen are folding). 4to. Second edition. Title printed in red and black, with engraved vignette. Engraved head-pieces. Later blue boards speckled with black, and with gilt title on red morocco on spine. Marbled edges. Very slight wear to edges and corners. Inside tight and clean, though with some minor creasing. Good, wide margins. In the voyage subsequent to this one, the author, a French nobleman, (1745-1797), assured his place in maritime history by discovering the sub-Antarctic island that bears his name. This trip was in the other direction, on behalf of the French cod fishing industry, to chart and describe the waters and ports between Norway, Iceland and Greenland. Kerguelen also writes about the people and customs of these places. Cox observes that another aspect of his mission was "to preserve order among the French fishermen". The chart of the northern regions is by Bellin. Bergen. Schiötz 527b, Fiske I page 315, Cox II, p. 21. Sabin 37617.

389) Lindeman, Dr. M(oritz Karl Adolf) (1823-1908), and Dr. O(tto) Finsch (1839-1917)

Die zweite deutsche Nordpolarfahrt in den Jahren 1869 und 1870 unter Führung des Kapitän Koldewey. Volksausgabe. Im Auftrage des Vereins für die Deutsche Nordpolarfahrt in Bremen bearbeitet von Dr. M. Lindeman und Dr. O. Finsch. Mit 54 Illustrationen in Holzschnitt und 4 lithographirten Karten. Leipzig, F. A. Brockhaus, 1883. Printed in Gothic script. (1 leaf), (i)-xiii, (1, blank), 273pp, (1, printer colophon). Frontispiece and 14 wood-cut plates, 40 wood-cut in-text illustrations and 4 lithographed coloured maps (two of which are bound in right at the back). 8vo. New edition. Contemporary green half cloth binding over black papered boards, the spine with gilt short title and expedition dates between gilt decorative motifs and ruled 'ribs.' Edges of boards rubbed and corners very slightly bumped. Marbled page edges. Satin paper end papers. Previous owner's name in ink, dated 1883, on recto of blank sheet before the blind title page. Interior very tight, and apart from general very slight age toning, very clean. Exploration of the coast of North-West Spitzbergen (1869 expedition), exploration along the East coast of Greenland and the discovery of Frans Josefs Fjord (1870 expedition). The 1870 expedition started out with two ships, the Germania and the smaller Hansa. They got separated in a fog. The Germania managed to get out of the pack ice, but the engine failed and they had to return to Bremen under sail. The Hansa also got stuck in the pack ice, but sank; the crew managed to survive on an island of pack ice drifting south, and eventually got ashore to a settlement near Cape Farewell, from where they were taken back to Germany on a Danish ship. Not in Schiötz.

415) J. McI. (John McIver (British Library's unexplained attribution))

Summer and winter yachting in the Meteor and Hebe. 1872-73. n.a, n.l, n.d. (1873), n.p. Privately printed. 110pp. No illustrations. 12mo. First edition. Original green cloth binding, the front board with gilt title and author (McI) within a gilt triple ruled border, the back board with matching blind-stamped triple ruled border, the spine completely plain. Boards slightly soiled and bowed, corners bumped. All edges gilt. Brown end papers, with white staining on both and on pastedowns. Binding getting loose, most noticeably between signatures. Interior otherwise clean. [Schiötz's (undocumented) suggestion of McInwards as the author's name cannot be accepted, if for no other reason that this surname seems never to have existed in Scotland. A previous owner of this copy thought, that it was possibly McIver, after having found that a James McIver, a wealthy American Justice of the Peace, had published a book in Madison, Wisconsin in 1879, and that Wisconsin residents often had links with Norway (provenance information from the bookseller). However, there is no documentation for any McIver who wrote about yachting, or indeed for a John McIver who wrote anything else in the late nineteenth century. A better clue to his identity is perhaps that his father owned the steam yacht Hebe (see page 23), which features in his description of a second voyage in 1872. Research has shown that many yachts of different size and type have been called Hebe. From comments in the text it is clear that this Hebe was a steam yacht (loading coal, steaming along etc), and was therefore most probably the S.Y. Hebe built at the J & G Thomson shipyard at Govan on Clydeside in 1868. And from the Clydebank database (http://www.clydesite.co.uk/clydebuilt/viewship.asp?id=6580) it becomes clear that this S.Y. Hebe was built for a Charles McIver. The author is therefore one of the younger sons of the shipping magnate Charles McIver, best known for his shipping companies North American Royal Packet Company and City of Glasgow Steam Packet Company, and for being a founder member of the Cunard Line.] *Stavanger – Lysefjorden – Haugesund – Hardanger – Bergen – Sogn – Bergen (1872). 416) Mackenzie, Sir George Steuart (1780-1848)

Travels in the Island of Iceland, during the Summer of the Year MDCCCX. Edinburgh, Printed for Archibald Constable and Company, Edinburgh, and T.Payne, Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme & Brown &c, London, 1812. xv, (2 leaves, (Contents, and Advertisement for the second edition)), 491pp. 2 engraved maps (1 folding and hand-coloured), 7 engraved plates (1 folding, 1 of music), 8 hand-coloured aquatints, and 15 engravings in the text. 4 folding tables. 4to. 2nd. edition. Contemporary half-calf binding over green, yellow and brown marbled boards. Spine divided into five compartments by four slightly raised flat ribs, with gilt decoration and author, title and publisher. Spine edges and corners slightly rubbed. Front free end paper and following blank leaf creased. Ex-libris (Earl of Ravensworth (Liddell family), Ravensworth Castle, Gateshead) on front paste-down. Interior tight. Scattered spotting and foxing especially on preliminaries and on pages 300-301, interior otherwise remarkably clean, except for the black and white plates and the maps, and especially the fold-out plate of Reykjavik, which also have foxing, with transfer to the tissue guard and to the printed page opposite. Coloured plate of Mount Hekla from Odde slightly discoloured (with ash?). The folding coloured map has a 4-inch tear repaired with archive tape on the back, but not affecting the image or the text. Mackenzie, a distinguished mineralogist and president of the physical class of the Royal Society, travelled to Iceland in 1810 in the company of Drs. Henry Holland and Richard Bright, all of whom participated in the book's production.Mackenzie contributed the narrative of the voyage and travels, and the chapters on mineralogy, rural economy and commerce, Dr. Bright the sections on zoology and botany, and Dr. Holland the chapters on literature, diseases, and government, laws and religion. "Although the scientific portions of the book have long been superseded, it contains much information of permanent interest on the social and economic condition of Iceland." (DNB). The mineralogical collections brought back from the expedition were spoken of with great admiration by Sir Charles Lyell. The fine hand-coloured aquatints of scenery and costume by J. Clark and text engravings and plates by R. Scott and E. Mitchell are based on original sketches by the three travellers, the majority drawn by Mackenzie. This edition has been slightly revised and a short account of the Revolution of 1809 added to the Appendix. Abbey, Travel, 16; Chavanne 2197; Fiske pp. 474-481.

431) Martineau, Harriet (1802-76)

Feats on the fiord, a tale. London, Charles Knight & Co., 1841. vi, 375pp, (1, blank), (1 leaf (publisher's advrtisement on recto, verso blank)). No illustrations. 24mo. First edition alone. Volume 3 of a series of 4 tales published quarterly under the series name The Playfellow, which is printed at the top of the title page.The price, 3s. 6d. in Cloth, is printed at the bottom og the title page. The publisher's advertisement at the back of this book, names the first two titles in this series (The settlers at home and The peasant and the prince), but not the fourth (The Crofton boys), probably because this was not yet published. Contemporary burgundy half leather binding over marbled boards, the flat spine divided into compartments by seven gilt single rulings, with gilt title, author and rosettes in five of the compartments. Boards, corners, edges and spine rubbed. Green end papers, with an armorial bookplate (Rycrofts) on the front pastedown. Blind title page missing. Ink address (Kempshots Park) at top of title page. Scattered foxing on preliminaries, and slight browning throughout, interior otherwise tight and clean. Martineau was born in Norwich, UK. After the family firm failed in 1829, and unable to teach because of deafness, Martineau turned to writing to support herself. She was an early popularizer of the theories of Locke and Hartley and argued that the discrepancy between men and women was due to differences in educational opportunities. Her reputation as a writer was based principally on her original popularizing serial Illustrations of Political Economy, 1832-3. She toured America in 1834. Very rare. Schiötz 664b, Rivlin, J.B. (Harriet Martineau 1947), 482, (see Schiötz II 664), Bibliotheca Norvegica II 1522.

Norway and the Norwegians; or Feats on the fiord. A Tale. New York, D. Appleton and Company, 1842. (Series name on the blind title page, Tales for the people and their children.) vi, (7)-180pp, 2 (series advertisement), (1 blank leaf). Engraved frontispiece. 16mo. First American edition. Publisher's original red blind-stamped cloth binding, the front board with short title "Feats on the fiord" in a central oval surrounded by floral and scrolling motifs, the rear board identical, except that the central oval field is blank, the spine with similar gilt floral and scrolling motifs and with a gilt short title Norway and the Norwegians. Boards faded, bumped, rubbed and soiled, spine with a dark stain at the top above the title, and with slight fraying of the bottom edge. Tiny ink number (15) at the top of the front pastedown, and an illegible ink signature on the back of the frontispiece. Scattered foxing (especially on the title page and frontispiece) and staining throughout, but very tight and the text block mostly clean. Schiötz 664u, Rivlin, J.B. (Harriet Martineau 1947), 454 (see Schiötz II 664), Bibliotheca Norvegica II 1522.

RAPPORT

EN SUÈDE ET EN NORWÈGE

PAR M. EUGÈNE MOUTON.

Monsieur le Ministre,

Par arrêté de votre département, en date du 10 mai 1899, j'avais eu l'honneur d'être chargé d'une mission en Suède, en Norwège et en Danemark, à l'effet d'étudier la législation pénale, le système pénitentiaire et les origines du droit criminel dans ces contrées.

Mon séjour s'est prolongé en Suède et en Norwège depuis le 8 juin, date de mon arrivée à Malmö, jusqu'au 8 septembre. Les désastres de la France m'ont forcé à revenir en toute hâte, et je n'ai pu remplir la partie de ma mission relative au Danemark.

J'ai cru devoir, par cet exposé des faits, vous mettre à même de juger comment il y a eu cas de force majeure pour m'empêcher d'accomplir jusqu'au bout ma mission.

L'exposé succinct du résultat de mes recherches vous fera néanmoins voir, je l'espère, qu'en me mettant en possession de documents et de faits nombreux elles m'ont pourvu de nouveaux et précieux moyens d'étude ; je m'efforcerai d'en profiter le plus possible dans mes travaux et de les faire connaître au public.

Je diviserai ce rapport, d'après la formule même de la mission qui m'avait été donnée, en trois paragraphes :

1° Origines du droit criminel en Suède et en Norwège, ce qui comprendra l'histoire du droit pénal dans ces contrées, son caractère, et enfin la bibliographie des sources ;

465) Nansen, Fridtjof (1861-1930)

The strandflat and isostasy. With 170 illustrations and maps in the text-. Kristiania, Jacob Dybwad, 1922. viii, 313pp (1, printer colophon), (1 leaf (blank)). 170 in-text illustrations. 4to. First edition. Published in the series Videnskaps selskapets skrifter.(I. Mat.-Natuv. Klasse. 1921. No. 11.) Modern blue cloth binding, the spine with gilt author and title. Fore-and bottom edges untrimmed. Original paper wraps bound in, the front one with previous owner's name in ink. Pencilled reference to a book review at bottom of title page. Light pencil lines in left margins scattered throughout. Interior otherwise tight and clean. This is a scarce scientific work by Nansen, on the geological phenomenon of isostasy on the Norwegian strandflats along the west and north-west coasts of Norway. Isostasy is defined as the geologic equilibrium that exists between parts of the earth's crust, which rise if material (such as an ice-cap) is removed, and sink if material is deposited. This report also deals in detail with the strandflats of Bear Island, Spitsbergen, and the coastlines inside and outside the arctic regions, including Siberia, Greenland and Alaska.

The Sea-Route to Siberia. Extracted from The Geographical Journal, Vol. XL111, No. 5, May 1914, 481-500. London, Royal Geographical Society, 1914. 20pp. A large folding coloured map and 6 photographs, three on each side of a single glossy sheet. 8vo. First Edition. Stiff blue card covers with label. Very good condition. This is a fascinating expedition report that predates by a couple of months Nansen's first English edition in book form. His book was entitled Through Siberia; the land of the future. Translated by Arthur G. Chater, and was also published in 1914. Nansen's journey was critical to the opening of Siberia to the west. It presented the potential of the vast Asiatic resources of Russia and the possibility, by securing the Kara Sea route, tof make those resources available. At the time of the author's exploratory journey, the nations of Europe had just become locked in the first World War, and Nansen's discoveries lent credence to the allied plans to use Siberian resources in the struggle against Germany and its allies. With this thought, the allies saw the journey in terms of political economy, and the creation of an alternative to the long rail journey across the continent was of supreme import. As in his prior explorations, Nansen was seeking to open the vast north to the uses of the civilized world. Very rarely found outside of the journal itself.

Norway, Sweden, and Lapland. Published under the direction of the Committee of General Literature and Education, approved by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge. London, Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, 1848. (2), 152pp. Frontispiece, 4 woodcut plates and two in-text illustrations. 12mo. First edition. Original green cloth binding, the boards with blind-stamped decorative borders, the front board with gilt title, the spine blind-stamped with simulated ribs. Severe discolouring damp stains on both boards, the cloth worn through on the back one, the faded spine with a small piece missing from the top, all corners and edges bumped and rubbed. The rear end paper is completely missing, and the block is splitting from the front at signature B (after the title page), causing the back board to hang loosely from the book block, and the binding to be very loose. Small bookbinder's label (S. Curtis) at the bottom of front pastedown, contemporary gift inscription dated January 1850 on the front free end paper, a child's pencil scribbling in a couple of places, scattered staining and age toning, a few dog-ear corners, yet all the text is clearly legible. *General on Norway (80 pages) and Lapland (34 pages). Title page printed in red and black. 4to. First edition. Modern burgundy quarter shagreen binding over burgundy marbled boards, the spine divided into six compartments by five raised ribs and gilt single rulings, and with gilt author and title in five of the compartments, and with a gilt floral motif above the gilt initials A.G. in the sixth. Protected by a transparent sleeve. Wrappers and spine bound in. Marbled end papers. Pages un-trimmed. Interior tight and very clean. A fine copy. The Franco-Belgian scientific expedition of 1905 was sponsored by the Duc d'Orléans, and commanded by Gerlache de Gomery (previously captain of the Belgica in the Antarctic in 1897-9). The expedition aimed to make oceanographic observations in the Greenland Sea and to reach as far north as possible. Following the East Greenland coast, they attained a new highest north (770 38'N) and discovered new land, the Ile de France. Ice prevented further progress, and the Belgica returned to Ostend via Iceland. Not in Schiötz or the Arctic Bibliography. Holland Arctic Exploration p. 551pp.

Frontispiece (photographic plate of the crew), 22 photographs on 12 sheets (4 spread over two pages, 5 with tissue guards), 4 zoological plates, one facsimile map, 8 maps, of which 6 folding, and a large number of in-text photographs. Folio. First edition. Original quarter shagreen binding over green and yellow marbled boards, the spine divided into six compartments by five ribs, with gilt author and title in compartments two and four, otherwise undecorated. The spine's dark green leather sunned and faded to brown. Page edges red. New end papers. Bookplate of Louis F. Berger on front pastedown. Silk page marker preserved. Scattered spotting, most on the preliminaries, but otherwise a near fine, tight copy. The Duc d'Orléans made expeditions to the Arctic in the years 1904, 1905, 1907 and 1909. On the last three occasions he and his crew sailed with Adrian Gerlache de Gomery on the Belgica, the ship that Gerlache had designed for his own Antarctic expedition. Sponsored by the Duc, the 1907 expedition headed for the Barents and Kara seas to make oceanographic observations. Once east of Noyava Zemlya, the Belgica became caught in drift ice, and was carried from the Kara Sea back into the Barents before it was able to sail north. The ship returned to Norway after its northward progress had been blocked by a wall of ice. Not in the Arctic Bibliography or Schiötz. Holland Arctic Exploration 469 pp. & 551pp.

Photograph album entitled "Erinnerungen an meine Nordlandfahrt 1894" with 84 albumen prints. 15 thick card leaves, with photographs on both pages. Folio. Half red calf binding over green shagreen boards, the front cover with gilt title, and the edges of the leather dcorated with gilt triple ruling and trefoil motifs. Head and tail of spine rubbed and with leather loss. Interior tight, but the card pages somewhat wavy. The album covers two journeys, the first (with 63 photographs), to Sweden and Norway in 1894, the second (with 21 photographs) to Baltic Sea ports in 1895. The photographs in the first section are a mixture of professional and private images, with some enlargements of the private ones, and in many different shapes and sizes. They are all annotated, some with complete dates, but mounted without any chronological or geographical order. Most are in very good condition, but a few are slightly out of focus or faded. In the first, Scandinavian section, there are 2 very large images (ca.23x28cm), 23 large (ca.14.5x24cm), 14 of which by Axel Lindahl, 4 medium (ca.10x15.5cm), 9 small (ca.6x12cm) and 25 small round (diameter ca.9cm). The second section contains 21 small round photographs. The 12 Lindahl images of Norway are: 2668. Nordland, Hestmande, Midnat, published by Rich. Andvord, 1892; 2701. Nordland, Panorama fra Skjoldvær, Lofoten; 2734. Tromsø Amt. Parti fra Lyngenfjord, published by Rich. Andvord 1892; 2946. II. Bergen, Panorama fra Laxevaag; 1051. Nordland, Svartisen; 2747. 531) Porro, Francesco (1861-1937) Vedute di Norvegia. Fotografie originali riprodotte in fotoincisioni da Antonio Fusetti. Torino, Vincenzo Bona, 1898-9. 7 fascicles, each with 2 plates printed on stiff paper from photographs taken in North Norway and 2 pages of explanatory text. 8vo. First edition. The first six fascicles with their original grey paper wraps, the seventh without. The wraps variously creased and sunned and slightly torn, the contents largely fresh and clean (some minor foxing here and there). According to the editorial Avviso printed on the back of the first three fascicles only, 12 fascicles were originally planned for publication. Francesco Porro was a noteworthy astronomer born in Cremona, and it is in the State Library in Cremona that the only other copy of this work has been located (and there, also only with the same 7 fascicles). So it seems likely that only 7 of the planned 12 fascicles were ever published. The subject matter of the 14 photographs is as follows: 1: Bodö, 2: Isola di Senjen, 3: Tromsö. 4: Via al porto di Bodö, 5: Nel porto di Tromsö - Aspettando la partenza, 6: Saltström, 7: Al ghiacciajo di Store Suphelle (Jostedalsbrae), 8: Chiesa di Bodo, 9: Nell'isola di Strömö (Saltenfjord), 10: Bottega nella piazza di Tromsö, 11: Chiesa di Tromsö. 12: Nel fjord presso Bodö, 13: Gruppo di viaggiatori inglesi a Strömö, 14: Store Suphellebrae. Schiötz II 1517, Schiötz had never seen the book, only a review of it in an Italian magazine).

574) Scheffer, John (1621-79)

The History of Lapland, Wherein Are shewed the Original, Manners, Habits, Marriages, Conjurations, &c. of that People. Oxford, At the Theatre, 1674. And are to be sold by George West and Amos Curtein. [iv], 147, [i, contents]. Frontispiece is an extra engraved title page, printed title page has woodcut vignette, foldout map, 25 woodcut illustrations in text. Large quarto [29.5 x 19 cm]. First edition in English, translation of author's Lapponia 1673, which was in Latin. Contemporary full tree calf, re-backed in calf with 6 raised ribs, and retaining the original gilt title label in red morocco. Small oval bookplate (Lowther) on front pastedown. Deckled edges. Interior tight, with wide margins, and very clean. There are a number of faults deriving from weaknesses in the paper, and unevenness remaining after the pages were trimmed: small piece of top corner of page 59 frayed and missing, lower edge of page 73 uneven, slight fraying to the bottom right edge of page 75, small hole and small frayed paper loss at bottom corner of page 85, jagged bottom edge on page 93, small paper loss to the edge of page 105, uneven edge on page 117, paper loss to bottom corner of page 123, small paper loss to the edge of page 129, paper loss to edge of page 137. None of these defects affect the text or the illustrations in any way. Overall a very good copy. The first detailed description of Lapland by this professor at Uppsala University, it covers climate, religion, rites, magic, government, language, houses, garments, diet, hunting, marriage customs, poems, natural history, disease, employment, geography, etc. The interesting illustrations include one of the first views of a man on skis, birds, animals, artefacts, clothing, tent, art, handicrafts, people, activities, reindeer pulling sled, etc. "The author, a German by birth, wandered to Sweden in 1648, where he was hospitably received by Queen Christina, who was already acquainted with his works, and loaded with honurs. This history long remained the main source of information on Lapland" (Cox). The work was translated from the Swedish by Acton Cremer, of Christ Church, Oxford, at the instigation of Bishop Fell, and was the first anthropological work issued by the Sheldonian Press. In addition it contains a Lapp and Finnish vocabulary and grammar, and two love songs in Lapp (with an English translation). Schefferus, Swedish philologist, archaeologist, amateur draughtsman, engraver and miniature painter, was of Alsatian birth. In 1647 he was appointed professor at Uppsala University, where he undertook important archaeological research and translations of classical texts, some of which were illustrated with woodcuts after his designs. His Upsalia (1666) was the first Swedish antiquarian topographical survey. *This work (originally published in Frankfurt in 1673) is his best known publication. Journal of a Voyage to the Northern Whale-Fishery: including Researches and Discoveries on the Eastern Coast of West Greenland, made in the summer of 1822, in the ship Baffin of Liverpool. Edinburgh: Printed for Archibald Constable and Co., Edinburgh, & Hurst Robinson and Co., London, 1823. xliii, (1 blank), 472pp. 2 engraved folding maps and 7 engraved plates (2 folding), several in-text diagrams. 8vo. First edition. Contemporary full tan calf, expertly rebacked, the boards with gilt double ruling border and edge and internal dentelles, the spine with five raised ribs, compartment two with gilt short title (Scoresby's Journal) and single ruling border on a black morocco label, the other five compartments gilt central motif between gilt borders of gilt single ruling and dotted line, the small compartment at the bottom with gilt date (1823) between similar borders. Binding in fine condition and protected by a mylar sleeve. Marbled page edges. New end papers of lined paper. Interior with the usual extensive foxing, especially around the plates. Otherwise a fine copy. Scoresby's regular whaling voyages to the Greenland fishery gradually came to involve exploration and the study of the natural history of the Arctic regions. He was largely encouraged in the latter regard through his correspondence with Joseph Banks. This work is an account of his 1822 voyage, which combined several weeks whaling with the exploration of the Scoresby Sound region (on this voyage he named Scoresby Land and Scoresby Sound) and approximately eight hundred miles of the East Greenland coast, searching for Eskimo settlements and making scientific observations. He describes ice and weather conditions, optical phenomena, and ruins of Eskimo dwellings and burial places. Appended is a list of rock specimens by W.J. Jameson, an annotated list of 45 species of plants by Sir W.H. Hooker, a list of animals, a meteorological table and extracts from the journals of two other whalers. "He gave a complete picture of its lands and waters, observing everything with the meticulous eye of an inspired scientist. And all the while he was harvesting a fortune in blubber and bone" (Mirsky, To The North). Arctic Bibliography 1561, Sabin 78171, Hill p. 270.

712) Wolff, Jens (1736-ca.1827)

Sketches on a tour to Copenhagen, through Norway and Sweden; interspersed with historical and other anecdotes of public and private character. To which is added an Appendix, relative to the present political state of Norway. London, Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme and Brown, 1814. (10 leaves (blind title (often missing), verso blank; 1 blank leaf; title, printer colophon on verso: 1 leaf, dedication; 3 leaves (5, preface, 1, blank); 3 leaves (contents, errata and indices)), 224pp, (1 blank leaf), (cxxviii (Appendix, last two pages of which correctly numbered), (1 blank leaf). 9 plates, including the frontispiece of Christian Frederik, King of Norway, two of which are hand-coloured costume plates. 21 vignettes in the text. 4to. First edition. The vignette on page 119 is no longer upside down, and this fact and the corrected numbering of the Appendix's last two pages indicate that this is a second issue of the first edition. Later half light brown calf binding over red and blue marbled boards, the spine divided into five compartments by 4 raised ribs with gilt decoration, the second compartment with gilt author and title on a red morocco panel, and with gilt date at bottom. Three of the four original end papers in pink and light blue bound in at the front and the back. Page edges very slightly bumped. Details mentioned by Schiötz: half title page (often missing) is present, there is no page Note of the author dated 1820; the music page (31-32, often missing) is present; two different printers are mentioned, one on the verso of the title page, the other on the bottom of Appendix page cxxviii; the numbering of the last two Appendix pages has been corrected to cxxix and cxxx. Pencilled bibliographical notes on the verso of the second original end paper, opposite the blind title. Some offsetting on pages opposite the darker prints, and insignificant foxing, mostly towards the front, otherwise very tight and clean. Provenance: Schougaard collection and Jens Chr. Hauge collection. Lyngdal - Mandal - Kristiansand - Kristiania - Moss - Hafslund - Fredrikshald (1803). Schiötz 1193a, Bring 411, Bibliotheca Norvegica II 4633, Bibliotheca Danica 590.*

713) Wollstonecraft, Mary (1759-1797) [2 books]

Letters written during a short residence in Sweden, Norway and Denmark. J. Johnson, St. Paul's Churchyard, London, 1796. (4, (title, verso blank), 2 ("Advertisement")), 262pp, (2, appendix), (2, notes), (2, advertisements). With the often missing sheet of advertisements of the author's earlier works. 8vo. First edition. Full brown calf binding, the spine divided into six compartments by five raised ribs, the second compartment with gilt author and short title (Letters) on a burgundy-red morocco panel, the other compartments with gilt single rulings. Rebacked, some scratching to covers. Two patches with an E and the number 3 stuck on rear pastedown. Interior tight, and clean with minimal foxing. The final advertisement sheet comprises a bibliography of Mary Wollstonecraft's work to that date and is of great interest: first, it shows that her first two books were still in print; second, it proves one could order both Original Stories and Elements of Morality with or without illustrations (both were illustrated by Blake); third, it shows a slight change of title for the Vindication of the Rights of Men (here Man);

finally, it confirms her authorship of, or at least serious participation in the writing of, The Female Reader (1789), of which Todd had never seen a copy, and which the BMC records as by "Mr. Cresswick." As the title appears last on the list, all of which is under the heading "Published by the Author of these Letters," it can safely be assumed that Johnson would not eagerly advertise another writer under Mary Wollstonecraft's banner and that therefore that book must be substantially her work. Letters is based on letters to Gilbert Imlay, written when Mary Wollstonecraft visited Scandinavia in the summer of 1795. She makes some incidental remarks comparing the women of Scandinavia with those of England and America (Imlay was American) and discusses methods of rearing illegitimate children - of particular interest to Wollstonecraft, since she had borne an illegitimate child by Imlay only two years earlier. Wollstonecraft travelled with her child and maid while suffering a great personal unhappiness. There are references to her theories of women's education and her view of the national character in the nations she visits, comparing them to society in England and France. It is the first published account in English of a woman travelling on business. "When Johnson published the Letters they found an enthusiastic public, not least among young poets. The wording of her description of the waterfalls she visited appears to have played a part in inspiring Coleridge's description of the sacred river Xanadu; and the theme of the book set a fashion for questing romantic journeys. Byron, Wordsworth, Shelley and Mary's as yet unborn daughter Mary, who sends her Frankenstein north at the end of his story, all read and followed in Mary Wollstonecraft's footsteps." (Tomalin, The Life and Death of Mary Wollstonecraft, Penguin 1992, p. 228). *Svinesund - Fredrikshald - Larvik - Tønsberg - Larvik - Helgerøa - Portør - Risør - Helgerøa -Tønsberg - Moss - Christiania - Fredrikstad - Sarpsfossen - Strømstad (1795). 714) Wollstonecraft, Mary (1759-1797)

Letters written during a short residence in Sweden, Norway, and Denmark. London, Printed for J. Johnson (by G. Woodfall), 1802. iv, 262pp, (1 leaf, Appendix), (1, Notes), (1, advertisement). With a portrait of the author engraved by Ridley from a Painting by Opie, originally published for the proprietors of the Monthly Mirror, Feby. 1st 1796 as frontispiece. With a leaf advertising works published by the author of these letters at the end. 16mo. Second edition. Contemporary leather-backed marbled boards, vellum over corners, the flat spine divided into six compartments by seven gilt simulated ribs of double ruling and floral ornament, the second compartment with gilt author and short title (Letters), the other compartments with gilt alternating round and oval star bursts, decorative gilt border along the edges of the leather on both boards. Upper joint expertly repaired, small pieces missing from the top and bottom of the spine, boards rubbed. Ownership inscription of the author John F.M. Dovaston on the front free endpaper, with his pencilled initials and the date 21 Jany 1816 at the end of the Appendix. Light foxing. Original green silk place marker preserved. The portrait is an interesting and unusual one, much sterner than the Opie portrait that found its way into Godwin's memoir of Mary Wollstonecraft published in 1798. John F.M. Dovaston, the original owner of this copy, was twenty when this edition was published; he went on to a career as a barrister, miscellaneous writer, and poet. A small pencil note on the title page records purchase of the book from Dobell in 1920. Same route as above. Schiötz 1195b, Bring 290, Windle & Pippin A7c.*

My Mid-Winter Sleigh Tour in Norway.

by Mrs. L.F.K. von Thiele.

I

on Thiele conceived the idea of undertaking a sleigh drive in the depth of winter t ld and picturesque Telemarken district of Norway. She knew nothing of the languag ed quite alone. Everybody prophesied before the start that she would either be de wolves and bears that lurk in the vast forests, or else frozen to death or lost in a
The trip, however, was a triumphant success, and Mrs. von Thiele saw and photog many strange and curious things.

HEN I announced my intention of sleighing through the Telemarken in the depth of winter, completely alone and without any knowledge of the language, everybody held up sorts of hardships, with coarse fare an accommodation.

Nothing deterred by all these dis phecies, however, one fine day in the l of February of this year I made my w

Among Ryper and Reindeer in Norway

BY C. V. A. PEEL.

An article which will be read with interest by all sportsmen. Mr. Peel went to Southern Norway, where the profusion of game, both feathered and antlered, kept him and his companion very busy, besides providing them with experiences well worth the telling.

II.

FOR a week we went out daily in the pouring rain after the ryper, which got wilder and wilder. Still, we managed to get over a hundred brace, and should no doubt have secured a great many but for the fact that our dog's feet got so sore with racing over the rock that we were eventually obliged to leave her at home.

At last the day arrived which we had looked forward to with such eagerness—the first of September, the opening day of the reindeer-hunting season. We divided ourselves into two parties, as we thought by this means we should have a better chance of seeing good game. My [illegible] alone, whilst I started with at a break-neck speed. By the time we had reached the summit we were both pretty well pumped. Drops of perspiration rolling down into my eyes prevented my using the glass, and I was so blown that I had to sit down to recover my wind. However, we had plenty of time to cool, for, look where we would, we could see no deer. For quite half an hour we searched the flat, rocky tops and then peered over the precipices in a hundred different places, all to no purpose. The deer had vanished.

We next walked along the summit for about a mile, and then at length Aawan, with a broad grin on his face, motioned to me that he saw the deer below us.

Auksjonsvilkår / Conditions of sale

Attending a Live Auction / Deltagelse ved auksjon
ENG: The best way to buy books at our auctions is to attend the sale. Auction frequency varies. Sign up for our newsletter to keep updated. Register by sending us an e-mail: mail@sd-auctions.com The auctions are held at our central Oslo premises in Bygdøy Allé 67. Previews for each auction will take place at the latest three days prior to the sale. For other arrangements please contact us on phone or e-mail.
NO: Den beste måten å kjøpe bøker på ved våre auksjoner er gjennom deltagelse på auksjonsdagen. Hvor ofte det avholdes auksjoner varierer, så det anbefales å registrere seg til vårt nyhetsbrev. Registrer deg ved å sende oss en e-post: mail@sd-auctions.com Auksjonene avholdes i våre sentrale Oslo-lokaler i Bygdøy Allé 67. Det avholdes visning senest 3 dager på rad før salget. Utover dette kontakt oss på telefon eller e-post.

Online bidding / Nettauksjon
ENG: It is possible to follow and bid at the auction online, including livestream, all the time until the auction ends in the auction room. This means that online bidders can join the auction and bid against live bids in the auction room. For online bidding we co-operate with Invaluable.com. It is possible to register a maximum bid and the online-system will handle your bids against other bidders up to your limit. This maximum bid can be increased, without changing the standing bid, at any time. You will be informed on e-mail as the auction and bids progress. Register for bidding under Auctions + Ongoing auction at sd-auctions.com
NO: Det er mulig å følge og delta på auksjonen via nettløsning, inkludert videooverføring, helt frem til hammerslag i auksjonssalen. Dette betyr at det er mulig å by mot bud fra salen helt frem til auksjonsslutt. Nettløsningen er et samarbeid med Invaluable.com. Det er mulig på registrere maksbud, slik at systemet håndterer budene for deg mot andre budgivere helt opp til din grense. Maksbud kan økes når som helst, uten at det påvirker stående bud. Du vil informeres på e-post ettersom auksjonen utvikler seg og budgivning pågår. For å delta som budgiver på nett registrer deg under Auctions + Ongoing auction på sd-auctions.com

Advance Bidding / Forhåndsbud
ENG: For those who cannot attend, we will execute advance bids on catalogued items. If you're new to Sagen & Delås auctions, please contact us in advance of the sale. From presentation date of the catalogue to at latest 1 hour prior to auction start, Sagen & Delås accepts advance bids (commission bids). Advance maximum bids ex. buyer's premium can be submitted to Sagen & Delås by mail or email. On behalf of the client Sagen & Delås will bid to submitted maximum in any competition with other bidders. Your maximum bid is handled professionally and discreetly against other bids. If there were no other bidders on the item, hammer price will be the reserve price.
NO: For de som ikke kan delta er det fullt mulig å registrere forhåndsbud. Hvis du ikke har handlet ved Sagen & Delås auksjoner tidligere, vennligst kontakt oss i forkant av auksjonen. I perioden fra auksjonskatalogens utgivelse til senest 1 time før auksjonstart tar Sagen & Delås i mot forpliktende forhåndsbud (kommisjonsbud). Forhåndsbud med ønsket maksimumbud eksklusiv salær kan avgis til Sagen & Delås enten gjennom brev eller i epost. Sagen & Delås vil på vegne av forhåndsbudgiver by opp til avgitt maksimumsbud i en eventuell konkurranse med andre budgivere. Ditt maksbud håndteres profesjonelt og diskret opp mot andre bud. Om det ikke skulle være andre bydere på objektet, blir tilslaget på utrop.

Phone Bidding / Telefonbud
ENG: Potential bidders can register for bids by telephone well in time before the auction and no later than the day before. Sagen & Delås will then make telephone contact with the bidder just before the desired object is announced in the auction room.
NO: Potensielle budgivere kan i god tid før auksjonen og senest dagen før registrere seg for bud via telefon. Sagen & Delås vil da ta telefon-kontakt med budgiver litt før det ønskede objektet kommer under hammeren.

Bids subject to acceptance / Forbeholdsbud
ENG: During the physical auction, in the auction room, bids given below the reserve price will either be discarded by the auctioneer or noted as "Hammered but subject to acceptance by the consigner". These hammer prices are as binding as ordinary bids, but the bidder has no exclusive right to acquisition of the object. During the time until SD|Auctions contacts the consigner concerning a bid subject to acceptance, anyone can at anytime submit a bid at the reserve price and acquire the object. The bidder who submitted a bid below the reserve price will in such cases not be contacted.
NO: Ved den fysiske auksjonen, i sal, vil eventuelle avgitte bud under objektets minstepris av auksjonarius enten bli forkastet eller i en-kelttilfeller bli notert som "Tilslag med forbehold om innleverers godkjennelse". Slike forbeholdstilslag er i så fall like forpliktende bud som andre øvrige bud ved auksjonen, men gir budgiveren ingen eksklusiv rett til ervervelse av objektet. I perioden frem til SD|Auctions får kontakt med selger om et forbeholdsbud, kan hvem som helst og når som helst, by minstepris og som følge av dette få endelig tilslag. Forbeholdsbudgiver blir i dette tilfellet ikke kontaktet.

Buyer's Premium / Tilslagssalær
ENG: Estimates are in Norwegian Kroner. A premium of 25% is added to the hammer price (30% incl. VAT on art, prints and manuscripts, this is reduced to 25% if approved export from Norway. As an optional service SD-Auctions can offer a shipping opportunity through FedEx at fixed rates). Premium of 25% is the same online as in auction room (Invaluable Buyer's Premium Parity).
NO: Vurderingsprisene er i Norske kroner. Det tilkommer 25% tilslagssalær (30% inkludert mva på kunst, trykk og manuskripter, dette vil bli redusert til 25% hvis dokumentert eksport ut av Norge. SD-Auctions kan tilby forsendelse gjennom FedEx til avtalt pris).
Tilslagssalær på 25% er det samme på nett som i auksjonssal (Invaluable Buyer's Premium Parity).
